BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Feb. 15, 1853.

Alderman PECK presented a petition that the Comptroller be directed to pay for the fireworks on Washington's birthday, the 22d, since the day was drawing near, and the Comptroller had stated that he would pay no such account. It was, he said, an honored custom, and appeared to be falling into disuse. He moved its reference to the Committee on Arts and Sciences. Carried unanimously.

Alderman Barn, at a subsequent hour, moved that the Commissioner of Lamps and Gas be instructed to illuminate the City Hall on the same day, and to display the transparency.

Alderman Ward would ask whether there had been any communication on the subject from the Mayor. It was always usual to have one, and it was high time. If it had not yet been received, it looked a little as if the day was going to be dispensed with.

The PRESIDENT made no reply to the inquiry, and the resolution having been read again, was passed immediately.

FUNERAL OF LIEUTENANT CHARLES B. BROWER, ONE OF THE NEW YORK VOLUNTEERS.

The funeral of this Volunteer, whose death we noticed a ew days ago, took place yesterday, from the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn. At two o'clock the body was removed from the City Hall, where it lay in state all day, and was conveyed to the Church of the Holy Trinity, orted by the Light Guard. As, the coffin entered the milding the minister of the church proceeded in front of the cortege, and read the burial service for the day, in the Episcopal form. The comin was then laid on two mahogany benches, beside the communion table, where the minister continued to read the service, during which the choir sung the Anthem for the Dead and the

th hymn —
Hark from the tembs a mournful sound,
Mine ears attend the cry
Ye living men come view the ground
Where you must shortly lie.
Princes, this clay must be your bed,

Princes, this clay must be your bed, in spite of all your towers:
The tall, the wise, the reverend head
Must lie as low as ours.
At the conclusion of the funeral service, the minister announced that the ceffin would be opened, in order to give the deceased's friends an opportunity of beholding, for the last time, that face which was once beaming with happiness, but now was as cold as marble. Whereupon, not only his friends and relations, but all the congregation, and the members of the different military companies present, gladly availed themselves of the opportunity. The coffin, which was covered with crape and bound with silver lace, after being screwed down, was borne out on the shoulders of six men, and laid in a magnificent hearse, with glass sides and ends. The funeral procession then formed as follows:—
Company A. Fenth regiment, N. Y. S. M., as the escort guard, attended by Shelton's Brass Band playing the Dead March.

place of the dead. Here the deceased, with all military bonors, was buried.

We have reldom witnessed a more solemn procession than this. The friends of the deceased vied with each other to see which could pay most honors to the dead, and render the pageant as solemn as possible. The deceased has resided in Flatbush for about four months, whither he removed for the benefit of his health. But there he was suddenly taken ill, and died in a few hours, of a long contracted disease. He served with distinction in the late war between this country and Mexico, and with his own hand took the celebrated General Braval prisoner. For this act he was rewarded by government, who gave him a commission in the army, which post he held until the day of his death. While alive he was admired as a soldier and a citizen, and when dead he was mourned as a father and a christian. He was married in the same church from which his funeral took place. A fond wife and two children are left to moura the loss of one who to them was a kind husband and an indulgent father. The decrased was born in this city, and was when he died about thirty-nine years of age. He now lies in the same cemetery where sleep a large number of his fellow soldiers who fought with him the battles of their country in the tropical clime of Mexico.

THE WEATHER.—The fine weather which we have enjoy ed for the last few days still continues. During the middle of the day, vesterday, it was quite pleasant; but as the evening advanced it became very cold. At 11 o'clock last night the thermometer at the Herral office stood at the firezing point. There is still a small quantity of ice floating in the North and Fast rivers, but the navigation is not obstructed in the least.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THE CITY.—All those opposed to, as well as all those in favor of, the widening of Catharine street, are requested to meet the Committee on Streets, at the Street Commissioner's office, Hall of Records, this afternoon, at three o'clock.

EXTHEMM DESTITUTION.—On Monday, a woman named Margnet Farlan. residing in Tenth avenue, was found by the police of the Sixteenth ward lying drunk on the floor. Her two small children were lying beside her in a starving condition. It appears that her husband abandoned his wife and children some time since, leaving them in a very destitute state. She, however, managed to obtain rum, and has been continually drunk.

FOUND IN A FIT.—Celia Johnson was brought to the station house, on Morday, in a fit. Dr. Ives was sent for, who rendered her was medical aid was in his power.

that Mr. Bernard F. McCabe, one of the clerks in the store suspected that the accused, from her movements about the premises from one counter to the other, intended to steal, and accordingly sent to the office of the Chief of Police, and precured the aid of officer McManus. The officer came, and without saying anything to the suspected party, watched her movements in the store. After a short period, the officer observed the woman slip a piece of slik under her cloak, and was leaving the store when the officer took her into custody and conveyed her to the office of the Chief of Police, where, on examining her person, the officer found under her cloak the two pieces of silk secreted.

The prisoner was then committed by the Chief of Police for a further hearing. During the day, however, from the appearance of the woman and her conduct, it was susjected that she was one of the two female convicts who escaped from the State prison at Sing Sing, on the night of the 3d of December last. Accordingly, a message was despatched to Sing Sing, prison, setting forth the arrest of a woman who bore the description of the escaped convict, Magdelina Adrian, Yesterday morning Mr. John Dooly, one of the deputy keepers at Sing Sing prison, came to the city and at once identified the prisoner to be Magdelina Adrian, an escaped convict. The affidavits of the recent larceny were made, and the papers are to be laid forthwith before the Grand Jury, and on the indictment the prisoner says she will pleadguilty, and the court, no doubt, will adjudge her for another term of imprisonment, to commence at the expiration of her present term.

The prisoner after identification, finding that it was of no use to deny the fact, owned up, and stated how she managed to effect her escape. She says that for some time previous to her escape, she contemplated a plan whereby to get possession of the keys and let herself out of prison. A small key was fitted by her to a closet where the matron kept the keys of the kitchen, unlocked the two outer doors, and

The Key West correspondent of the Savannah Georgian states that the Br bark Colony is a total loss. No part of her cargo (oil cake) had been saved. She had been stripped of her materials, which were given in charge of the English Consul. The salvage on the bark George Thomas and cargo is 25 per cent on the valuation of vessel and cargo, the wreckers paying one-fourth of all expenses, which leaves them about $8,500, net. Schr S Burgess, Stirling, repairing, was ashore four days, and was only saved through the strenuous exertions of the wreckers. Capt S is dangerously ill of fever, in the marine hospital, and fears are entertained that he will not survive. The portion of carge of bark Edgar saved had been sold at auction; the salvage will propably be settled by arbitration. The vessel bilged almost immediately after striking, owing to the violence of the wind and sea. The wreckers swamped most of their boats in boarding ship Union, which was ashore on the Quicks, and was boarded by two wrecking vessels bound, to Key West with cargo saved from the wreck of bark Edgar. The captain of the Union asked for assistance, but the vessels being loaded, they were unable to render any, and before additional vessels could\( \frac{1}{2}\) be despatched to her assistance, she succeeded in forcing her way clear, and proceeded on her voyage direct. Bark Harmony, from NLondon for Apslachicola, was ashore on the Bahamas eight or ten days, but got off without assistance, with the loss of all her anchors and chains, as before reported. The latter were replaced at K W, and she sld again on the 5th. The bark Mopang, having all her crew sick, will be detained some time. Brig Motto, from Cardenas for Portland, which put in leaking, will discharge and be hove out for examination; cargo 284 hhds 17 tes 8 bbls molasses. Br ship Lucy, which was got off Love Key and take
